Edwin N. Cofer New Chamber Head on Island

Edwin N. Cofer has been elected president of the St. Simons Island Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

He succeeds I. W. Bush, who became vice president. C. R. Maxwell was selected treasurer.

Mr. Cofer, realtor, was elected by the new board of directors named by the membership at large.

The members of the board include, in addition to the officers, L. B. Black, R. C. Finn, Bennie Gentile, J. H. Lester, Jr., C. Robert West, Newell B. Ward, and A. S. Brown.

The board will meet on the first Tuesday of each month at noon at the chamber office.

SAM W. WELLS, past president of the St. Simon Rotary Club and personnel director of the Sea Island Company, was the Albany club's guest speaker Thursday. "Words To Live By" was his subject, and in a unique way he strung together the wise and unforgettable sayings of a number of men, living and dead. Adding his own comments, he made his talk extremely interesting, placing emphasis on his own conviction that all of life's great values are missed if the spiritual values are not fully appreciated. "I think; therefore I am," and "Do good, and disappear" were some of the golden gems of great thinkers who were quoted in the course of Mr. Wells' interesting talk. James H. Gray introduced the club's guest speaker.

LAST WEEK'S MEETING

An inspirational talk by Sam Wells, secretary of the St. Simons Club, on the subject "Words To Live By".

Sam took his lines from a book by a boyhood friend, William Nicholls, now editor of "This Week", newspaper magazine. Mr. Nicholls had written many prominent people for a suggestion on words to live by and he published the answers in a book. There were communications from many prominent people, ministers, educators, scientists, industrialists and Sam quoted from many of them to fashion an inspiring and thought-provoking talk.

Sam gave his own suggestion as to the five most important words in our language: "I am proud of you". And the four most important, "What do you propose?"; the three most important: "If you please"; the two most important: "Thank you"; and the one most important: "I".

TUESDAY EVENING there was an inspirational meeting in Jesup when the charter was presented to the Jesup Rotary Club. Rotarians and Rotary-Annes from all of the surrounding towns were there to witness Gov. Jimmy Wood present the Charter to Mark W. Thomas, Jr., the President of the Jesup Club. The speaker of the evening was Pete Donaldson of Tifton who gave, upon special request, his "Rocking Chair" talk. He advises all Rotarians to buy a rocking chair and to first, just sit in it. After a while of just sitting, rock. After rocking a while, relax. After complete relaxation, read a good book. When the book is read think of a good joke and chuckle a bit. After that, think of what good can be done through Rotary to benefit the whole world. By following this schedule a better man and a better Rotarian will emerge.

Jesup Charter Presentation Jesup Rotary Club

You are now Rotarians and Rotaryans. You are entering upon a great adventure, in new friendships, new experiences, and new services to your vocation, your community, and your fellowmen.

You are associated not only with the men of your community who make up your local Rotary club but with more than 460,300 other men of 108 countries or geographical regions, differing in language, customs and historical background, and yet alike in one respect: All are business and professional men banded together by a common ideal, commonly known as THE IDEAL OF SERVICE.

Rotary welcomes you, no man is worthily a Rotarian who cannot lift more than his ~~share~~ own weight in business, No man is worthily a Rotarian who is not a center of enlightenment for his community. No man is worthily a Rotarian who does not reflect to his circle of friends the thrilling example of the man who is sincerely devoted to the upbuilding of the highest type of life in his home and community. And although no man can ever attain perfection in all these contacts with his fellowmen, he can attain some measure of success through a continued and sincere effort to learn, How to live and hoe to serve.

You are entering into an educational and friendly relationship with others who are learning the unity of the individual with society and who are endeavoring to express it in their daily thought and action.

You are entering upon an adventure in Service that will mean much to you throughout the remainder of your life.

We as Rotarians believe the opportunity is open to every member through his affiliation with Rotary to discover within its fellowship a truly manbuilding, community building, world-building influence. A force that must be based upon the motive of unselfish service if it is to be of the greatest effectiveness.

Just as the Rotary slogan suggests, He Profits mostWho serves Best.

Your community will judge Rotary through your exemplification of it in character and in service.

Thus believing in you, in your integrity, and in your friendship, we are rejoicing that you have expressed your desire to join with us in promoting and developing still further the work and activity which Rotary has undertaken.

Therefore we, the St Simons Island Rotary Club together with all other Rotary clubs, extend the right hand of fellowship and with it a most sincere

Rotary Club Receives Charter

The newly organized Rotary Club of Jesup Tuesday night formally was admitted to membership in Rotary International. Delegates from the Rotary Clubs in St. Simons, Brunswick, Savannah, Claxton, McRae, Waycross and Blackshear were present at the meeting to welcome Rotarians of Jesup into the fellowship of some 461,000 business and professional executives throughout the world.

The official Rotary charter was presented President Mark Thomas by Dr. Jimmy Wood, Rotary District Governor from St. Simons whose address to the Club outlined the history and purposes of the Rotary organization.

"When the first Rotary Club was organized in Chicago, Illinois, U. S. A., in 1905," said Mr. Wood, "its basis of membership was the selection of one man from each business or profession in the community, thus establishing the Club as a cross-section of the community's business and professional life. After more than 50 years of growth and development, that original plan is still the basis of membership of all Rotary Clubs throughout the world. Whether they are in Austria, or Australia, in Ecuador or Egypt, in the United States of America or the Union of South Africa, these Rotary Clubs are all united in the practice of the 'Ideal of Service,' which is thoughtfulness of and helpfulness to other."

Officers of the new Rotary Club are: Mark W. Thomas, President; Norris Strickland, Vice President; Eugene W. Jordan, Secretary; and T. W. Walker, Treasurer. Other charter members are Harry O. Forehand, J. Alton Woodward, James Sosebee, Louis Schaffer, Robert G. Hatcher, Aubrey H. Strickland, J. Olin Harper, H. R. Harrison, Reuben G. Ray, Jr., Dave Madray, W. D. Carswell, Paul H. Harper, Cecil Tyson, William B. Shanks, Hallie K. Keenan, Bennett Strickland, George Madray, and Barney Gilmore.

Members joining since the charter was granted include: Charles E. Anderson, Dr. Don Glover, Reeves Hoyle and Kenneth L. Kemp.

Although Goldfine told of gifts to Democrats in the Truman administration, Rash said the fury will bring havoc on the Republicans because the generous Goldfine givings were brought to light during Eisenhower's term.

Rash declined to comment on the Middle East situation, other than to say he had talked to Washington by phone and was informed "things are quieting down."

He said he had missed the bulk of the current crisis since he has been here for two weeks.

The correspondent said statehood for Hawaii is almost a certainty during the next term of Congress.

Looking to other Washington activities, the newsman commended the determined crime committee under Sen. John McClellan.

Although the committee accomplishes many things in its investigation of the Mafia, the problem among American people is one of basic morality, Rash declared. "As long as there is a consumer for narcotics or a fan of the numbers racket, there will be a supplier."

The newsman predicted Vice President Richard Nixon is currently without peer as the Republican presidential choice in 1960 and there is a chance that Defense Secretary Neil McElroy will be his running mate.

Nixon's recent difficulties in South America have made him a hero or martyr in the eyes of many Americans, Rash believes.

He described the Democrats as being "between generations" of Roosevelt, Truman and Stevenson—a group out of power.

Sen. Johnson has three strikes against his chances of becoming a presidential candidate.

Fifty-two members of the 224th Radio Relay Squadron of the Air National Guard will leave for Glynco tomorrow for two weeks of summer field training at Otis Air Base, Mass.

Island Rotarians Receive Report Of State Program

Mrs. Dorothy Conroy, a nursing consultant, and Mrs. Mary W. Collier, senior medical-social consultant of the State Department of Health, yesterday told the St. Simons Rotary Club of work with crippled children.

Georgia has set up clinics throughout the state since 1937 under a federal-state matching program to take care of crippled children, patients needing plastic surgery, and other ailments are to be added to the list.

Doctors are the best in the state, the two speakers said. The cases require extended treatment. Glynn County has 71 patients receiving treatment, mostly at the center at Waycross.

The public funds pay for the treatment and prescribed medical items but not for travel, they reported.

Burn cases increased during last year's cold winter and funds were exhausted until civic clubs chipped in and raised supplementary monies, the speakers related.

They reported Georgia has one of the outstanding programs of the type in the nation.

Modern Settings Local Home Show

Mrs. A. C. Quarterman, Mrs. Robert Marrs and Mrs. Ardell Nation who are decorating for the Associate Garden Club have been challenged in their three-room area by heavy ceiling beams, and worlds of windows and transoms.

The committee has worked out a contemporary scheme with the Japanese influence introduced in accessories. The sandelwood and shrimp-colored walls in the living-dining area will blend with a Japanese-lantern lit patio which the women are setting up using unusual basket-weave furnishings from California. The bedroom will be done in cool mint green.

NEW SWEDISH INFLUENCE

Swedish modern furnishings were the choice of the CIC Officers' Wives, who are represented by Mrs. Philip Dahlby, Mrs. L. H. Sipes, Mrs. Tom Fruitticher, Mrs. George Garbark and Mrs. William Schroeder.

Mrs. Dahlby said today to be seen for the first time in this locale will be one of the new, round dining-game tables. The unusual low table is set with low turquoise occasional chairs. Swedish furnishings are characterized by clean, uncluttered lines and versatility of arrangement. A bedroom and den will complete the young-family group in Swedish design by Frederica Fox.

Air Force Chaplain in Norway Tells Rotary Study Plan Works

The Brunswick Rotary Club has a report directly from Norway that its program of giving scholarships to foreign students to study in this country is aiding international friendship.

Joe Lambright, secretary of the club, published the following letter from an Air Force chaplain, written from Oslo on July 3, in this week's club bulletin:

"Dear Rotarians:

"At the regular meeting of Gimle Rotary Club, Oslo, Norway on June 25, it is my great pleasure to hear a most interesting and favorable report given by Miss Ann Christine Bruu, the young lady from Norway sponsored by your club in her Rotary scholarship in America. I'm sure each one of you would have thrilled to hear the many wonderful impressions made upon her by the members of your club and the people of Georgia.

"I am the American chaplain of our military personnel assigned to NATO here in Oslo and since my arrival in this country have been accepted as an honorary member of Gimle Rotary Club. The president of this club asked if I would write this letter to you in his behalf, and I readily consented to do so.

"As far as I know, Miss Bruu was unaware of the fact that an American would be present to hear her report to Gimle Rotary Club and certainly she could not be accused of choosing words merely for the sake of impressing someone. She gave a full account of her stay in America in a sincere and honest manner. Perhaps the greatest impression you people made upon Miss Bruu was the wonderful hospitality afforded her. She could not get over how eager everyone was to help her in every possible way. She spoke highly of the school she attended, was impressed by the many community activities, admired the beauty of the Southern States, and was amused by the excitement caused by the snowfall of last year.

"In our day and time when there is so much misunderstanding between people of different nations brought about by misrepresentations of facts from various sources, it is so refreshing to hear someone who has been in America come back to his or her home and give a true picture of our people and our way of life. Believe me, Miss Bruu in her report made me mighty proud of our people—so much for that after her speech I asked the floor and publicly thanked her for being such a good ambassador for America. When I think that such testimony as given by Miss Bruu was made possible through the efforts of Rotary and your club in particular, I am constrained to say that each person who had a hand in this commendation. Gentlemen, your club is to be congratulated and encouraged to continue this worthy project. You made no mistake when you chose to sponsor Miss Anne Christine Bruu. I'm sure she will be forever grateful and much has been done to promote better understanding between our two great countries.

"Sincerely yours,

The Death of a General

One by one the heroes of World War II are leaving for the Valhalla where good soldiers find eternal rest and the warm companionship of their own kind.

Gone to join them now is Maj. Gen. Edward P. King Jr., of Georgia, whose appointed task it was to surrender the American forces on Bataan in the tragic opening phases of that war, and to bear with his own special kind of heroism four years of life as a prisoner of the enemy.

Gen. King was a special kind of soldier. He studied for the law and practiced in Atlanta, but his affection and aptitude for the military life caused him to make of it a career, tested in one of the great crises of American history with the final glory to him and to his country. — Atlanta Journal

When Attorney Tom Dickey belted the ball from the par 3, 204-yard third hole at the Sea Island golf course yesterday, the jury disagreed where it went.

Wright Parker and Billy Backus, in the threesome, said they lost sight of it. The caddy thought the ball went over the green.

Dickey argued it went in the cup . . . where the ball was found, giving him his first hole-in-one.

Pallbearers will be Albert Fendig, Alfred W. Jones, E. R. Sherman, Dr. Ira G. Towson, Lucian Whittle, T. M. Baumgardner, J. D. Compton, and W. H. Backus.

Gen. King's first wife died in 1954. He was married in 1956 to Mrs. Pauline King Beutell of St. Simons, who survives him. His only other survivor is a sister, Miss Mary King, Savannah.

After taking up residence here,

Gen. King became active in the Brunswick Rotary Club and the Glynn County Chapter of the Red Cross. He accepted leadership of fund campaigns for the Red Cross after a period of years when drives had failed to reach goals. Under his command the drives regularly surpassed quotas. The chapter has been renamed in honor of him.

Gen. King was a member of Christ Church and was serving as senior warden at the time of his death.

• Tribute to Gen. King

A number of Georgia newspapers have joined The News in paying tribute to the late Maj. Gen. Edward P. King, Jr., who died here this week.

The Atlanta Constitution has this to say about the distinguished general:

Maj. Gen. Edward P. King Jr., is dead at 74 at Brunswick, but as he said, something in him died in 1942 when he, as commander, had to surrender 70,000 American soldiers to the Japanese on Bataan.

He spent three and a half years in a Japanese prison camp. His cellmate was Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, who remained behind in command at Corregidor after Gen. Douglas MacArthur properly was removed by submarine.

Neither "Skinny" Wainwright nor King were ever the same again, though both lived to see the Japanese surrender and to savor it. But Gen. King said over and over again that he owed his men an apology for the role he was forced to play. It was he who had to take the insult of the Japanese commander sending a subordinate to take Gen. King's sword.

But typically he felt it was his men who were insulted more than he. And they had fought well with what they had — which was little. Eroded by hunger, lack of weapons and ammunition and worst of all by the great numbers against them, there was no other choice. But the anguish of the moment was something which never stopped aching. And the Japanese defeat somehow did not assuage it.

Gen. King was a hero. This was America's first real defeat. But he met it with honor, integrity and courage. By example and word he encouraged his men. He took the cruelties of imprisonment and the bitterness of humiliation with no sign of weakness. He was a soldier and a commander in the best tradition.

We join in salute to a brave and deserving soldier and citizen. A native of Atlanta, a graduate of the state university, he leaves his city and his state a record of service and courage which ranks with the best in its history.

District Leader Tells of Rotary Student Grants

Rotary clubs in 110 countries and geographical regions throughout the world are united in an endeavor to promote international understanding, good will and peace.

That was the message of Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of Georgia Teachers College at Statesboro, governor of district 692 of Rotary International, in addressing the Rotary Club of St. Simons Island today following a conference with local Rotary officers and committee chairmen.

In addition to the activities of the more than 9,800 Rotary clubs within their own communities to promote this objective, Dr. Henderson explained, Rotary International has awarded grants of more than $2,600,000 in the past 11 years through its program of student fellowships, which enable outstanding college graduates to study for one year in countries other than their own, as Rotary ambassadors of good will.

Since 1947, when this program was established, 1,076 Rotary Foundation Fellowships have been awarded to students in 65 countries for study in 43 countries. Harold Gulliver, Jr., of Valdosta is Rotary Fellow from District 692 at the Free University in Berlin, Germany, for the school year 1958-59. Another student will be selected this fall from District 692 for the college year 1959-60.

"With fellowship and service to others as its keynote, Rotary provides a common ground for 462,500 business and professional executives throughout the world, regardless of differing nationalities or languages or political and religious beliefs," the Rotary district governor emphasized.

"In addition to the promotion of international understanding," Dr. Henderson continued, "special emphasis is being placed by Rotary clubs in this district, which includes 37 Rotary clubs in Eastern Georgia."
