Jeff Chapman

Georgia State Senator – Dist. 3

State Sen. Jeff Chapman said the new, reduced plan for Jekyll Island renovation and development is good for the developer and the public.

“The public voice was heard,” he said.

Chapman said he still wants to make sure the state continues to monitor the rebuilding effort so it is done in a “responsible manner.”

Elected to his first term in the Georgia Senate in 2004, Senator Chapman represents a district that covers the five counties of Brantley, Camden, Charlton, Glynn and McIntosh.

He serves as secretary of the Senate Public Safety and Homeland Security Committee, as a member of the Transportation Committee, the Natural Resources and Environment Committee, and the Insurance and Labor Committee, and as chairman of the Senate Eminent Domain and Economic Development Study Committee.

Twice elected to the Glynn County Commission, Chapman is the founder and former owner of Chapman Waste Disposal, and he co-owns Glyndale Waste Services with his wife, Angela Prescott Chapman.

The state senator and his wife Angela have two children.
