Classification Talks

David Medford

David talked about his life from college at Florida State University, to service in the Air Force, work with IBM, time as a stockbroker, and then working in real estate before retiring as a mortgage banker.

His Air Force service took him to Okinawa and then a tour of Southeast Asia with the Thunderbirds.

He showed leadership qualities as president of his college fraternity and ROTC cadet commander, qualities he has used on St. Simons Island as president last year of Island Newcomers.

Don Myers

Don talked about philanthropy, a field in which he has a lot of experience.

Don served as Assistant Vice President and Director of Development at the University of Georgia, following service as Assistant Dean at the University of Pennsylvania Law School.

“Development is about developing a culture of philanthropy,” he told club members.

He and his wife Susan made this their primary home in 2006 after 10 years of splitting time between Athens and St. Simons.

He served a vice president of the Island Newcomers here, while David Medford (above) was president.

Linda Muir

Linda, an attorney with offices in Atlanta and St. Simons, is a cum laude graduate of Newcomb College of Tulane University, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, and holds a law degree from Emory University.

She worked with a law firm, in solo practice, and in corporate law before joining her current firm, where she works in business law and estate planning.

She and her husband, Bob, split their time between Atlanta and St. Simons, along with frequent visits to their grown children. Bob, who is now retired, was a guest at Tuesday's meeting to hear his wife speak.

(Jerry Schueneman introduced the classification speakers.)

The Four-Way Test

of the things we think, say or do

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?
